VOLUME II –SCOPE OF SERVICES & SPECIFICATIONS – CLEANING and MAINTENANCE SERVICES

2- DESCRIPTION OF SERVICES

Maintenance and cleaning services shall be performed in lieu of the condition, nature and use of the premises. Maintenance services and works (trenches, electricity, painting, removals, various handling operations, etc.) shall be scheduled as required by the CLIENT.

2.1- Purpose of the Service

Three criteria are to be considered, namely: Appearance, Comfort, and Hygiene.

Appearance: Appearance where the thing looks like.

In the cleaning field, the appearance is the first visual impression of cleanliness and neatness of a room and its equipment. The cleaning services shall certainly be adapted to the premises.

Comfort: All the factors determining a feeling of well-being.

In cleaning, the comfort is appreciated through the following factors:

- Appearance (as determined above), olfactory, tactile and auditory perceptions.
As far as olfactory perceptions are concerned, the service must eliminate or possibly cover bad smells by using appropriate products. The service shall not be performed using products whose odors cannot be tolerated.
- As to the tactile perceptions, the work must be carried out in a way that the treated surfaces are pleasant to touch and feel.
- As to the auditory perception, the services must be carried out in a way to avoid any unwanted noise that may disturb the environment.

VOLUME II –SCOPE OF SERVICES & SPECIFICATIONS – CLEANING and MAINTENANCE SERVICES

Hygiene: Set of principles and practices relating to the preservation of health.

In the cleaning field, hygiene is based on the sanitation of both surfaces and the ambient atmosphere. Thus, the service must reduce pollution to a non-hazardous level without causing new pollution by the untimely use of products.

2.2- Conditions of Performance

2.2.1- Periodicity
